Tara's Tips FOR YOUR STORE

Tara Alley is Road Runners Director of Visual Design. She miraculously designs all 3 showrooms each season. Tara started with us almost at the beginning in 2009 as a Sales Rep until we discovered her secret talent. She's now Road Runners most long term teammate. Her favorite color is deep turquoise. Favorite designs style is Eclectic. Her design pet peeve is hanging art too high.

I believe buying for third and fourth quarter, since Covid, has changed tremendously.

I have noticed my own, personal shopping for gifts has turned cozy, and more home based.

Whether it be coffee mugs, pillows, and blankets, or kitchen towels, candles, and decorative books. Loading your shelves with cozy items tend to draw people in, to stay for a while.

I have also started loving statement earrings, and lots of bling! Most people know me for having an 85%, black wardrobe, so, my statement earrings are more natural wood, with tassels, or heavy colorful jewels!

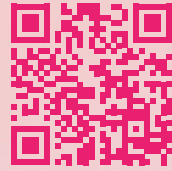

Keep your buying simple, and don't overthink it. The most lovely items are the ones you look at twice.

The coast provides us with boundless inspiration and gifts us with endless days spent at the beach and in the water. At Shard we are proud to present some exciting new designs along with our continued favorites that have been inspired by the coast.

Love the Coast.

I love a great T-shirt! Southern Fried Design has the most comfortable shirts with adorable southern sayings. They not only have t-shirts, but they offer gorgeous tea towels, pillows, cards, stickers, coozies, diner mugs & more. They design new looks every 6 months to keep up with the trends & seasons. Also, they developed one of the BEST displays on the market that holds ten shirts & doesn't take much floor space & is very eye catching. Look for me in the showroom with a different shirt each day!

Jack Baker is no ordinary handmade soy candle line. It's an exceptional bougie, aromatic candle that captivates your senses and make you feel good. Jack Baker has four collections, each with amazing fragrances and beautiful containers. Each collection has their own unique fragrance to fit into any situation and décor. There candles are for everyday and holiday. My personal favorite is WATERMELON SUGAR: fresh strawberries/ cane sugar/ guava. Who would not love that fragrance for the Summer? Some other fragrances include: BOMBSHELL: chardonnay/white grape/parfum HOT MOM $h!T: pomelle citrus/champagne/ girl squad. Jack Baker is a fun, funky, bougie line of hand poured soy candles that my customers are loving and ordering.

Good design is timeless! The recent surge in popularity of all things chinoiserie has led to high demand for one of the most prized of 18th century dinnerware patterns: tobacco leaf.

Developed circa 1780, this fabulous design features leaves of the Nicotiana (tobacco) plant and flowers resembling patterns found in rich and elaborate textiles of the time. True tobacco leaf pieces include an array of 28 bold colors including 22 karat gold accents.

While antique porcelain pieces can fetch hundreds or even thousands of dollars from collectors at auction, these plates from One Hundred 80 Degrees reproduce this beloved design in a durable tin that you can enjoy every day...right down to the gold-tipped rim!

Hang them on the wall for a pop of high-style. Tuck them in a cabinet for a touch of the exotic. They can be mixed or matched with virtually any tablescape. The pattern will burst on a simple white tablecloth. Or it will blend seamlessly with layers of color and pattern. From casual alfresco dining on the patio to a sophisticated dinner party, you just can't go wrong with the enduring style of tobacco leaf!
